

Purpose

The Department of Defense (DOD) offers two markets for small businesses seeking defense contracting and defense subcontracting opportunities. The first market encompasses prime contracting opportunities. The second market encompasses subcontracting opportunities with major prime contractors.

Small Business Office

Mark N. Roush, Small Business

Specialist, Seattle District COE, contact via content provider box.

Prime contracting opportunities

Seattle District, Corps of Engineers

Northwestern Division, Corps of Engineers

Army Business Opportunities

Federal Business Opportunities

Subcontracting Opportunities with Seattle District, Corps of Engineers, Major Prime contractors.

Subcontracting Opportunities with other Major DoD Prime contractors in Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho.

NOTICE TO LARGE BUSINESSES: Small Business concerns, HUBZone small business concerns, small disadvantaged, small women-owned and small service disabled veteran-owned business concerns looking for subcontracting opportunities can be found at the Central Contractor Registration (CCR) or through the Procurement Technical Assistant Centers or PTACS. Native

American Indian-owned Businesses State of Washington's Office of Minority/WBE's Large Business Subcontracting Program Statutory Requirements can be found at FAR 19.702\(a\).

The Small Business size definitions (FAR 19.001) are available from the FAR site at GSA. The industry size standards are published by the Small Business Administration and are available at <http://www.sba.gov/size/indexsize.html>.

For a translation of the SIC codes to NAICS code, a cross-reference can be found at <http://www.census.gov/epcd/naics/nsic2ndx.htm>.

All businesses must be listed in the Central Contractor Registration (CCR). Lack of registration in the CCR database will make an offeror ineligible for award. For assistance, contact the Procurement Technical Assistance Center near you.

For more information about Electronic Commerce and Electronic Data Interchange (EC/EDI), contact the DOD Electronic Commerce Information Center

Publications and Procurement Guides This site has many publications, both in HTML and PDF formats, including: Selling to the Military, Subcontracting Opportunities with DoD Major Prime Contractors, and Defense Contracting Regulations.

Architect-Engineer Firms: The SF 330 becomes effective June 8, 2004. Firms will need to go to the Business Partner Network web site, www.bpn.gov to submit their SF 330 information. See the Contractor Appraisal Information Center (CIAC) site at <https://www.nwp.usace.army.mil/ct/l/welcome.htm> for more information.