

Department of the Army
Corps of Engineers, Northwestern Division
P.O. Box 2870
Portland, Oregon 97208-2870

United States Environmental Protection Agency
Region 10
1200 Sixth Avenue
Seattle, Washington 98101

October 20, 2004

Dear Interested Party

It is with great regret that the Policy Committee of RSET has to announce that the RSET Plenary meeting scheduled for November 2nd and 3rd, 2004 has been delayed. There were several circumstances beyond our control that made holding the meeting on these dates impossible. The RSET Plenary will be rescheduled for February/March 2005.

The RSET Policy committee apologizes for any inconvenience caused by this change in schedule, as we know travel plans had been made. If there had been any way to make the schedule work as originally planned, we would have done so. It was a consensus decision that the only way we would be able to accomplish our meeting objectives was to reschedule.

Thanks for your understanding and patience. The RSET process is moving forward and the rescheduling of the plenary meeting is being done to ensure that we make the best use of the resources and time of the RSET membership as we prepare the Sediment Evaluation Framework.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Jim Reese".

Jim Reese
Navigation Coordinator
Corps of Engineers, Northwestern Division

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "John Malek".

John Malek
Team Leader
Sediment Management Program
US EPA Region 10